Midpoints and Uranian Astrology Many astrologers may have heard of Uranian Astrology, but either know very little about it, or feel the subject is too difficult because of the lack of available resources. In my lecture, I will simplify and reduce the precepts of Uranian in an easy-to-follow series of short presentations that clearly demonstrate the basic techniques and their applications to traditional astrology, focusing on Planetary Pictures and Solar Arcs. We will also explore the mysterious Trans-Neptunian "planets" and how they can be used both in regular chart interpretation, as well as with the use of dials. Also included is an exploration of the 90-degree dial, a tool unique to the Hamburg School of Astrology. Students will be given the opportunity to practice what they have learned by using the dial on their own charts. Packet of handouts $2.

Ernesto Amaya is a Uranian Astrologer based out of Mesa, Arizona. "I'm really drawn to the otherworldly nature of this school of astrology—it's almost like it comes from some sort of sci-fi novel. I'm a proud board member of the Kepler College Uranian Astrology Discussion Group, and am in the process of studying to take the American Federation of Astrologers Student exam. I worked as a columnist for The Desert Bowler news publication for 6 years. (Yes, I wrote bowling horoscopes!) I used to think my young age was a factor against me (I'm only 30 at the time of this writing in 2017), but I've more recently realized that I'm in the new generation of astrologers, and it's important to bring the lesser known subject of Uranian Astrology into the public eye. I can be reached anytime by email at ernesto@eAstrologer.net."
