An Empowering Approach to Relationship Astrology

Relationship questions might be the number one reason people seek out astrology. And we have answers, lots of them. But are clients asking the right questions? Do we know how to navigate the synthesis of the natal needs, strengths and weaknesses — and also how to manage a skillful consultation. In this talk we'll explore key chart dynamics and specific times when we are asked to reconsider our karmic relationship habit patterns — or a particular relationship. We'll consider when to surrender and when to lean into specific types of healing. And we'll ponder cultural relationship, gender and sexuality trends.

Kay Taylor is a soul-centered/psychological astrologer, author and teacher who has been integrating evolutionary astrology with intuitive mastery, psychosynthesis, yoga philosophy and a wealth of healing wisdom for over 35 years. Kay has been President of OPA since 2020, formerly Education Director, and is on the Board and faculty of Kepler College. She is a respected conference lecturer, trains intuitive/astrologers through her Soul Path School and is Relationships & Astrology core faculty.
