Decoding Your Chart: Removing blocks to Financial Abundance.

What is wealth? Is it bad? Is it good? Is it even attainable and will you ever have enough? The clues for finding the sweet spot in your life are found inside your natal chart. Of course, family values, culture's values, peer values all help in attaining that comfortable place with money and value, but it starts with you. This lecture covers some of the blocks, the ways you can change those blocks and provides useful tools to get to where you are comfortable financially. It does require a bit of work, but then, anything valuable always does.

Stathis' teaching style is entertaining, practical and informative and provides some of the tools to get from here to there.

Bio: Georgia Stathis, an astrologer since the early 1970s, taught the Undergraduate program at Kepler College, has written numerous articles and books, spoken at astrological conferences internationally and currently holds the chair of the global database cataloging astrological materials from around the world at www.alexandriabase.org. Proceeds from this presentation go towards this 501C3 Non-Profit Educational foundation. Georgia's website www.starcycles.com is where you find numerous classes to download, events, her annual Starcycles Cheat Sheet, and weekly forecasts.
